Reflection

On Sunday, a day we as a nation set aside to honor fathers and the bonds of family, I was among the millions of Americans who watched images of children who have been torn from their parents. In the six weeks between April 19 and May 31, the Department of Homeland Security has sent nearly 2000 children to mass detention centers or foster care. More than 100 of these children are younger than 4 years old. The reason for these separations is a zero-tolerance policy for their parents, who are accused of illegally crossing our borders.

Americans pride ourselves on being a moral nation, on being the nation that sends humanitarian relief to places devastated by natural disasters or famine or war. We pride ourselves on believing that people should be seen for the content of their character, not the color of their skin. We pride ourselves on acceptance. If we are truly that country, then it is our obligation to reunite these detained children with their parents — and to stop separating parents and children in the first place.

People on all sides agree that our immigration system isn't working, but the injustice of zero tolerance is not the answer. I moved away from Washington almost a decade ago, but I know there are good people at all levels of government who can do better to fix this. - Laura Bush in the Washington Post

PASTOR'S PARAGRAPH

My Dear Friends,

In our Diocese we rejoice in the ordination of three new priests on Saturday. Fathers Michael Coveyou, Christopher Koehn and Marlon Mendieta will soon be assigned to various parishes for their first ministry.

We are grateful to the Knights of Columbus for their generous gift of $10,000 to our parish. We will use these funds for a prayer garden in back of the columbarium. The garden is now being designed and work will begin after all the many consultations that have to take place.

The Knights have been most generous to our parish endeavors – both in donations and in service at parish events. They are well known for their culinary endeavors.

Confessions: On Saturday June 30 and July 7 there will be Confessions at 10:30.

Father Donald Staib

As you consider your offertory/pledge giving, we remind you that we offer Electronic Giving as a way to automate your contributions. It is convenient for you and provides much-needed consistency for the parish. Collection basket contributions can fluctuate significantly from week to week, especially in the summer, but when contributions are automated, the church receives funds on a steady basis. Forms are available in the Narthex or email info@stmm.net and a form will be emailed to you.

Now is the perfect time to become a registered parishioner of St. Mary Magdalene! Once you are registered you will receive a Welcome Packet in the mail and will be added to the Email Distribution list to receive our 'almost' every week E-News!

Do you receive Father Staib's E-News? If not, let us add or update your email address in the StMM directory for online communication. Email info@stmm.net and we can add or update our Email distribution list.
