A Note From Father Donald Staib

Remember in your prayers Debbie Reilly, who died last week. Debbie was a part of our parish since the beginning. Debbie was also a most valuable volunteer for our parish and for Catholic Parish Outreach. We offer our prayers to her family and to all who knew her.

Also remember the family of John Santori, a member of the parish who died this past week. John's funeral will be on Monday at 10:30 am.

Reflection

The feast of the Holy Trinity is a celebration of relationships. In our world where so much revolves around transactions, we need time in relationship where we simply enjoy the other. We know that all relationships require love, where it is the relationship between spouses, parents and children, friends, or coworkers. Within the Trinity, love is dynamic and constantly outpouring. Relationships also demand truth, especially an authentic sharing oneself with the other.

On the feast of the Trinity we rededicate ourselves to living out these relationships in joy, love, and truth.

Financial Matters

OUR NEW CHURCH - We have the obligation to make large monthly payments for 14 years for the construction of the church. In addition we are challenged to respond to new parish endeavors in all our parish programs. We are grateful to those who help us in the weekly Offertory for regular expenses and in the monthly white envelope for debt payments for the church.

Our Columbarium

Many of us have experienced the difficult process of planning a funeral for a deceased loved one. What would they want done? What readings? What music? Do they want a casket funeral or cremation? The first days can be a blur, and family consensus may be difficult. Many of these stress points can be minimized by you completing both a funeral pre-plan with a provider, as well as complete a funeral mass planning sheet that is available on the STMM website.

If cremation is the option chosen, and STMM Columbarium is chosen as your eternal resting place, then obtaining a niche is also a detail that can be completed ahead of any need. The entire process can be completed starting on line at www.stmm.church/welcome/columbarium.cfm. Niche pricing is going to change 1 July 2019. The contract must be signed and full payment completed by that date for current pricing to be in effect. If you have questions please call the office or contact the columbarium committee at columbarium@stmm.net
